

Death is near But the end is closer

They fight for us; god bless them all.

They fight day and night just for our country and for our rights. But most people have been saying is just the beginning of World War 3. People have been asking when will it end and why has it happened. It doesn't matter what they are doing, we need to support them.

Soldiers in Afghanistan

But all is not lost. As the fighters fight they still get to relax and have a swim. If you look on BBC there is a clip that you can watch. If you are at home please give a minute silence.

Family friends at home is most probably what they are thinking about when they felt like giving up. They think of their loved ones and fight to keep their promise.
