

GORILLA FOOD

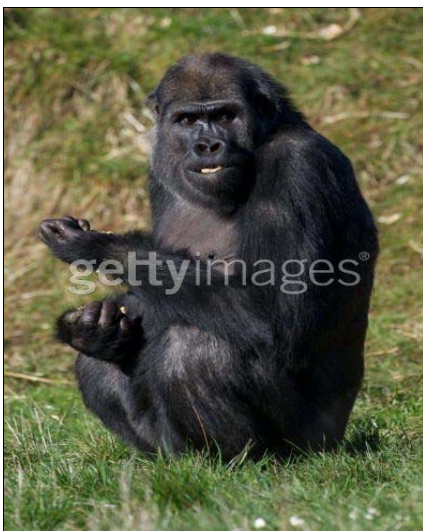

Scientists found out that they eat monkeys!

Gorillas have been secretly eating monkeys and the scientists in Washington gave us this information 5 days after actually working this out!

People thought that gorillas and monkeys are friends but they're not and the other wrong thing what people thought about them was the fact that they're not vegetarians actually.

It also have been said by the zoologists before those gorillas have been known to eat monkeys before.

On March 6th, the scientists have been puzzled to prove this topic. If gorillas eat meat and insects, then they think that possibly if something is new, it has to stay in this same place for a while. So it comes out that monkeys are not strong enough to fight against a gorilla.

So it comes back to this, monkeys are not allowed to be mix with gorillas because if they mix with them then, they have extinction on there backs!

By Sandra and Bobbilee